INCREASED RAIL RATES GRANTED

Passenger Fares Increased One-Fifth. Pullman and Freight Rates Increased

Authority for the railroads of the country to increase their revenues by approximately $1,500,000,000 was granted Saturday, July 31, by the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to dispatches from Washington. Freight rates will be advanced about one third, passenger fares one-fifth and Pullman charges one-half.

According to this announcement, it will make the passenger rate from Cloverport to Louisville about $2.98. The present fare is $2.42 including war tax.

The new rates which are to continue in force until Mar. 1922, will likely become effective the middle of August. Tariff experts of the railroad expect to file blanket schedules with the Interstate Commerce commission making the increased passenger fares effective August 20 and the new freight rates effective August 25, it was stated Monday by Alfred P. Thom general counsel for the association of railway executives.

The operating revenues of the railroads under present rates and conditions are insufficient to meet the increased wage scale.

"EYES OF THE WORLD" THE AIRDOME

Monday and Tuesday, Aug 9 and 10. Popular Novel Shown on Screen.

Jane Novak is admittedly one of the most beautiful women in the realm of the film. She doesn't have to be starred to attract attention, or base-drummed or press-agented.

Nobody is starred in "The Eyes of the World"—although the cast of the great multiple-reel production of Harold Bell Wright's story was carefully selected for type and ability, but that will not prevent Miss Novak shining as a real beauty when Clune's "The Eyes of the World" has its first presentation at the Cloverport Airdome Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 9 and 10.

The makers of "The Eyes of the World" hunted a long time before they found just the right young Scores were looked over critically woman for the part of Sybil Andres, and the search extended clear across the country to the most eastern field of the motion picture industry.

When Miss Novak was picked it was not because of her beauty, but because she answered minutely to the description of Sybil by the author. Mr. Wright, who assisted in the filming of his book, said this young woman was precisely the kind of girl he imagined when he wrote the tale of California love and adventure which has reached a sale of over 2,000,000 copies.

President American Farm Bureau to Be Speaker of Day Friday, Sept. 17.

Howard, the first president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is a farmer—and the sort of farmer, too, who produces record breaking crops—but his vision is not confined to his own farm or to his native state of Iowa. He is a University of Chicago man and uses his scientific knowledge on his 480 acre farm.

Recently Mr. Howard completed a tour of the great agricultural states and came back from that more enthusiastic than ever for the Farm Bureau work. Not only is Mr. Howard an excellent speaker, but he writes as well as he talks. Magazines, newspapers and newspaper syndicates are beseeching him for his views of the farm situation of the country.

Friday September 17th, will be "Farm Bureau Day" at the State Fair.

PRESIDENTS WHO HAVE USED AUTOS

Roosevelt First to Be His Own Chauffeur; McKinley First to Ride in Auto.

Probably the average man has not stopped to realize that only four of America's Chief Executives have had the privilege of riding in motor cars. Such is the case, however.

William McKinley was first elected President in 1896. During his first term the motor car was a curiosity, staggering uncertainty about over highways and streets. Nothing in the performance of the cars entered in the races then gave any hint of the glories to come.

President McKinley never became a motorist in the accepted sense of the word. He enjoyed a ride in the newly discovered transportation prodigy on two or three occasions, but horses were still the agents of progression in general use, and the White House stable was still a stable. It is interesting to remember that the motor-car run from New York to Buffalo, was called off enroute upon the news of McKinley's death.

Theodore Roosevelt refused to be confined to the tonneau of his car during his term of office, and he will go down in history as the first President to drive a motor car.

William Howard Taft was devoted to motoring. He enjoyed the sensation of great speed, and often led the Secret Service man assigned to follow his car a merry chase.

President Wilson has found most of his brief relaxation that he has snatched during the last eight years in the official motor cars of the White House garage.—Wichita Beacon.

SHIPPING HOGS IN HOT WEATHER

Livestock Dept. Southern R. R. Issues Suggestions to Prevent Losses to Hog In-transit.

To prevent losses to live stock, particularly hogs, in transit during hot weather, the livestock department of the Southern railway system has issued the following suggestions to all shippers with request that they be followed as closely as possible.

Haul or drive hogs to station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading.

When ordering a car for loading hogs insist upon a clean one bedded with sand, clay or earth.

Wet thoroughly the bedding and interior of car before loading.

Give only a small feed of grain before shipping. Heavy feed means more body heat generated.

Load not more than one hour before the train is to depart.

Load slowly and carefully. Avoid excitement, and do not beat or crowd the animals.

Load not to exceed 14,000 pounds fat hogs and 16,000 pounds stock hogs in a standard 36-foot car during the warm weather.

Have water applied to the bedding in the car at available points immediately after the train stops.

Use ice on floor of car whenever possible, three blocks to a car.

Report inattention or neglect at once to Superintendent of division on which shipment originates.

Never throw water directly upon hogs after they become heated. Run it on floor of car under hogs instead.

Mrs. Amanda Rhodes, of Grayson county, was visiting friends and relatives here last week.

The largest fish ever caught in the Ohio River was caught last week at West Point by Emmett Crenshaw and Steve Simpson. It was estimated that this young shark could easily devour a child ten or twelve years old—Meade county Messenger.

FARMERS URGED TO ADVERTISE

Brings Producer and Consumer Closer Together; Do Parcel Post Marketing.

One of the most important requirements in parcel-post marketing is the bringing of the producer and the consumer into business contact, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This may be attained by personal acquaintance, through the acquaintance of a third person, by advertising in an appropriately selected paper, by personal canvass, and through the post office in the city or town in which a customer is sought.

Once a satisfactory parcel-post business is established with or through an acquaintance, other customers are likely to be secured through the first one. Advertising frequently may bring the producer into touch with a prospective purchaser. Some papers run a special parcel-post advertising department or section, and a brief but well-worded advertisement often will bring results. Another method is for the producer to make a personal canvass in a residence section of the town or city selected. Good, representative samples of the produce available at the time doubtless will help to secure the first sale.

The postmasters in a number of cities of the country, under the direction of the Post Office Department, have instituted campaigns intended to foster parcel-post marketing. The names and addresses of producers, together with the produce offered, are listed for distribution to the patrons of the office; and some of these postmasters issue for distribution to producers lists of consumers who wish to buy.

HINDUS TO BE EXPORTED FROM UNITED STATES

New York City, July 30.—The decision of the immigration authorities to deport all Hindus unlawfully residing in the United States has resulted in the rounding up in many parts of the country of a large number of East Indians, and yesterday the first batch of twenty-seven destined for deportation arrived at Ellis Island from the immigration station at Philadelphia. It was estimated at Ellis Island that about 2,000 undesirable Hindus are living in the United States. Those who arrived yesterday were found in the mining regions of Pennsylvania. Most of them get into the country from British steamships, which they desert to find employment here.

PLAN STEAMBOAT LINE FROM MEMPHIS TO CINCINNATI.

Louisville, Ky., July 28.—Representatives of a new company organized at Memphis, Tenn., to operate a line of steamers between Memphis and Cincinnati have been visiting along the Ohio river in making an investigation of the probable tonnage the company could get. Evansville shippers are said to approve of the new line.

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 4, 1920

THE SUMMER CONFERENCE.

Wednesday and Thursday of this week, the Breckinridge County boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 24, will hold a Summer Conference in our city. The motive of this conference is to stimulate interest among our young people in the more serious things of life. It is to help teach them the value of Christian ideals, and of the health and happiness that may be derived from wholesome living and wholesome pleasures.

This Conference is the work of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, and from the present indications of the number of delegates who are expected in Cloverport today the work is being readily taken up by a goodly number Breckinridge county's young people.

It will be good to have these fine young people in our midst, and Cloverport warmly welcomes them.

The Breckinridge News, published by J. D. Babbage at Cloverport, Ky., announces in its current issue that after August 1st, the subscription price will be $2.00 per year. When the rapid increase in the price of paper began less than two years ago, The News was among the first papers to increase its subscription from $1.00 to $1.50. Editor Babbage is one of the oldest newspaper men in his state and he has stood all sorts of storms in the years of his newspaper experience, and he is well enough informed to understand that if he expects to stay in the game he can't do it by laying out more than he takes in.—Editor Miller of the Cannelton Enquirer.

Hancock county accounts for its decrease in the census report from the fact that many residents from there have gone West seeking better farm lands.

How will Breckinridge account for its decrease?

This is the latest political news from Ohio: "Harry C. Smith, Harold C. Smith and Harvey C. Smith are rival candidates in Ohio for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State."

About the easiest way we know of to have saved fifty cents was to have renewed your subscription to The Breckinridge News at the old rate.

Only four more weeks of summer.

FARM AND STOCK

Frank Ruppert reports 330 bushel of wheat from 20 acres. Sold part of his crop at $2.65 per bushel.

W. R. Moorman, Jr., went to Franklin, Tenn., Saturday to see a nice bunch of Short Horns with a view of buying. He shipped from Planters Hall during the past month, 1 Short Horn Bull to P. R. Smith, Clarkson, Tenn., price $200. One to W. S. Terry, Cave Spring, Ky., for $250. 12 head, 8 cows and 3 calves and one bull to A. C. Barrow, Dallas, Texas, for $3,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Tabeling, Tar Fork, returned Saturday from a visit to relatives in Owensboro.

J. W. Jarboe, McQuady, has 6 acres of Burley and 4 acres of one sucker. Says his Burley is fine and nearly all topped.

Col. James Webb and his son, John Webb, Garfield, were in Hardinsburg Saturday on business. Col. Jim is just a little old as to years, but in no way to show that he is past the meridian. "I want my people in Texas to know that I am all right."

Rev. H. J. Blackburn has just closed a fine meeting at Mystic, with eight additions to the church.

The railroads are the biggest spenders in the country—When you spend a dollar with them 90 cents of it goes into other channels and is kept moving and that is what money is made for to spend. We are glad they have a raise. They need it.

"AND TELL HIM TO HURRY"

O, he's just a machine—the poor, tired M. D. So rout him out early (say between two and three).

Because waking him up at this time, you see, Will always make him realize the necessity of "springing"—whatever the case be; And never forget—it will add to his hurry—To add at the last—"And tell him to hurry!"

The case may be measles, or maybe the colic. Or a case of hysterics (of women symbolic). A man's twisted arm from rampaging hydraulics.

A half-broken head in a free-for-all frolic—Or someone perhaps who feels melancholic! But the case doesn't matter, to get him to worry

Just to add to your call: "Now tell him to HURRY!"

He has been out so much nights, the sleepy M. D.,

That when driving his car, he really can't see When he gets out of the road, until finally he Wakes up with a jump, and then, O dear me! He finds that the car has been climbing a tree The wind shield is smashed, each tire's "on the bum,"

And his wife gets this message: "WHY DOESN'T HE COME?"

O, a doctor's whole life is simply hilarious, Though he's often accused of practice nefarious

Like dying his pills with something vicarious; Still a living he makes—though it's often precarious.

Because of bad bills and other reasons as various.

But when in the night you've a slight tummy-ache

Don't hesitate—ring till you're sure he's awake!

It's a noble profession as each doctor will swear,

And alleviation of pain is a joy, all declare!

But, if truthful, each one will confess he could bear

To have his patients—after midnight—his services spare,

And allow him to rest and forget all his care!

Because many a time all the reward he will reap,

After a nerve-racking drive, is to find them ASLEEP!

Mary Louise Buzzel, Wilmington, Del., in Boston Globe.

FAT

Persons doomed to wear a lean and hungry look from the cradle to the grave envy those who are more generously upholstered and sigh for avoirdupois, while those who land the ground would be lean.

A man denied generous covering for his bones may appear unbeautiful at the bath, but he has the consoling assurance that clothes will conceal his poverty of flesh. The fat man is less fortunate. Nude or arrayed in fine linen, he still frankly protrudes into outer space. He gets in his own way. He is an unceasing annoyance to himself. And his affliction is made greater by the fact that his fat is localized—or rather centralized—so that he sits in his own lap and walks always one pace behind the front part of him.

For the removal of superfluous fat, there are numerous diets, exercises, and medicines. The diet and exercises fail because the patient loses faith after twenty-four hours have whizzed by without effecting noticeable depreciation, and the medicines either fail or remove health along with the fat.

The case of the fat is not hopeless. They may grow lean if they will. Either of the following plans is guaranteed to make last year's clothes require tucks.

For male persons between the ages of fifteen and fifty: First, stop eating before the eyes protrude. Second, after the morning and midday meals walk fifty yards to an implement known as the plow, grasp two handles firmly, and say in a loud and authoritative tone of voice to the animal fastened to the front end of the implement: "Get up, there." Follow the animal for a period of five hours, being careful to avoid profanity and thought of shade trees. The treatment should continue three months.

For persons who are not males: Stop eating as soon as you would if guests were present. After breakfast bend over a common tub containing hot water and a corrugated board. Pick up a soiled garment—any garment will do—immerse it in the hot water, rub it with a cake of soap, and cause it to travel rapidly up and down on the corrugated surface of the board. Continue the motion.

After the midday meal find a polished stick of wood to which straws have been affixed by a broom manufacturer. Grasp the stick firmly, one hand well above the other, and drag the straws along the floor with a vigorous sweeping motion.

These two exercises will not only remove fat, but will prevent nervous ailments and the habit of loafing downtown, where the profiteer lieth in wait with a dainty frock that may be had in exchange for a month's earnings of a strong man.—Colliers Weekly.

THE LINGUIST

Minna Irving, in New York Sun. Since Fred returned from France he comes To see me every night.

And brings me flowers and bon-bons too, Tied up with ribbons bright.

But sometimes when he kisses me Good-by he must forget

My name is Gwendolyn, because He says, "Adieu Ninette."

He wears a medal on his breast He has the D. S. O.

The papers had his picture in With others in a row,

I'm just as proud of him of course As ever I can be,

But feel a trifle peevish when He answers, "Oui Marie."

Five Minute Chats on Our Presidents

By JAMES MORGAN

(Copyright, 1920, by James Morgan.)

WILSON'S FIRST TERM

1914—Aug. 6, death of Mrs. Wilson.

1915—Dec. 18, the president married Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt.

1916—Re-elected.

AFTER Woodrow Wilson had been teaching in the classroom for a quarter of a century that the president ought to be more like a prime minister, "trying to co-operate with other human beings," than "a mere department . . . hailing congress from some isolated island of authority," the opportunity came to him to put his theory in practice. When congress met in extra session a month after his inauguration he walked in and delivered his message in person, reviving a custom which Jefferson had stopped only because he happened to have a poor voice and was an awkward speaker.

President Wilson adopted the attitude of a sort of member at large of both houses, sauntering unheralded into the seldom-used president's room, which adjoins the senate chamber, whenever he had any special business, and talking things over in the open. The president succeeded not by arousing a personal loyalty to himself but by the force of his ideas. "I have had a majority on the floor, but," he admitted, "never a majority in the cloakroom."

Here are the outstanding items in the peace record of the Wilson administration: Tariff revision, the first income tax, the federal reserve act, the federal trade commission, the Clayton trust law, 30 arbitration treaties, the seaman's act, the farm loan the repeal of Panama tolls, the shipping act, the child labor law, the purchase of the Danish West Indies and federal aid for good roads.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

The federal reserve law is potentially as great a piece of constructive legislation as any that has been enacted in this country. We were absolutely without a financial system, and the money of the nation was in the irresponsible control of a few big banks in New York.

Every attempt to remedy this situation had failed because private financial interests naturally wished to keep their control of the money. The Aldrich bill in the Taft administration proposed to give the sanction of law to this private domination, but congress refused to pass it.

The federal reserve act simply reversed the Aldrich plan and gave the nation, through the government, the control of its own money.

President Wilson was the relentless driving force that pushed through the federal reserve bill and the rest of the legislative program.

The electric spark was omitted from President Wilson's composition, and this omission denied him a flowing communication with his fellows, a natural limitation which was confirmed by the life he had led until he was suddenly thrust into the hurly burly of politics.

President Wilson has been a lonely figure in the White House. He came to the presidency a stranger to public men, and no president can make new friends—real friends.

His re-election was one of the big surprises of our presidential elections. For several hours after the polls closed he appeared to have been badly beaten, and Hughes went to bed with the assurance that he was president-elect.

After all the great industrial states which had decided the elections in the past, except Ohio, had sent in reports of Republican victories, the tide was turned by the far West, which had been almost forgotten in the reckoning, but where the conservative interests had less influence. At last the returns from remote hamlets in the Sierras gave California to the president by less than 4,000 plurality. He had lost all but two of the northern states east of the Missouri, and yet won by carrying all but two of the states west of that river, where the women voters are supposed to have rallied to him because "he kept us out of the war."

THE STALETY PINES.

By Ellen Eddy Shaw

All boys and girls who have tied snot on the bough of an evergreen tree and watched the birds come and peck off bits of it have noticed that these trees keep their needles throughout the year. These needles are their leaves. No matter how young your children may be, it is possible for them to learn something about the interesting family of pines.

There are three families of pines: those having three needles, the leaves growing in a little bunch; those having two needles and those having five. One way that we know our pines is from this fact, the leaves grow in bunches and these bunches always have a definite number of needles in them, five, three or two. The most common pine of the five-needle family is the White Pine which is found in many sections of our country. These trees, which grow with straight trunks are sometimes one hundred and fifty feet high and their branches are covered with bunches of five needles, the softest and most delicate of all the species. The Pitch Pine is a well-known member of the three-needle family. It is a rugged-looking tree of from thirty to eighty feet high with coarse and rigid needles. The graceful Red Pine is generally from fifty to ninety feet high and its long straight needles grow in pairs. There are many pine children in the three and two-needle families, but not many in the five-needle one.

Have a little more fun with the pines! Ask Father to buy a blue-print paper, not a large one, but a little one, perhaps 4x5 inches. Get some blue-print paper cut to the size of the frame and spread a bundle of needles on the glass, being careful not to break them apart. Place over them a sheet of the blue-print paper, clean side next to the needles, then put on the back of the frame and set it in the direct sunlight so that the sun shines upon the glass side. Leave it there for two or three minutes if the sunshine is very bright but if it is a partly cloudy day you may have to leave your frame in the light for ten minutes. Then take the blue-print paper out of the frame and put it, picture side down, in water and leave it there for fifteen or twenty minutes. Now as you look at it, you will see that the impression of the pine needles shows a clear white picture, while the background is blue. If the water in which you wash your picture is green in color, that will show you that you did not leave the picture in the sunlight long enough. A little experience will soon teach you how to get the best results. After taking the picture from the water, place it face down on a clean white blotter and dry. Any child can have great fun mounting these pictures on a piece of paper and can use them for gifts or keep them as examples of the different families of pines.

AS FATHER SEES IT.

"William," said old Bill Silvers to young Bill as he handed over a $5 Federal note, but still held to one corner of it as he delivered his homily: "William, I don't want to stint you on spendin' money; when you are out with the boys—and girls—I want you to take care of your share of the expenses, but, William, every once in a while I want you to sort of remember that it takes $100 seven months and fifteen days, workin' day and night and Sundays at 8 per cent. to earn just $5."—Kansas City Star.

A DICKENS MEMORIAL

Number 48 Doughty street, where Dickens settled down after his marriage, and where he completed "Pickwick," "Oliver Twist" and "Nicholas Nickleby," is coming into the market and there are great hopes that it will be purchased on behalf of the Dickens Fellowship. "To preserve one house in which some of the master's greatest work was done as a lasting memorial, before all the old landmarks are swept away."—London Chronicle.

MIND YOUR ELDERS

Father—I am indeed, grieved, my lad, to hear that you have been telling your mother falsehoods. Always tell the truth, even if it should bring trouble upon you. Do you understand?

Son—Yes, sir.

Father—Well, then, go and see who is banging at the door. If it's the landlord, say I'm out.—Philadelphia American.

NOT WHAT HE WANTED

"What does my little man want to buy today—sweets?" asked the shopkeeper.

"You bet I do!" was the infant's reply, "but I've got to buy soap."—Stray Stories.

FARM BUREAU NEWS

Conducted by JOSEPH W. HARTH, County Agent

Seed Wheat.
Save seed wheat from the crop no matter if it is poor. The extra plump seed is no better than the lighter. The best way to procure the best seed wheat is to go over on acre and cut out all cheat, cockle and wild onions. Cut the area separately and thresh separately. Do not use the first seed that comes through the separator as it will contain some of the general run of wheat. After threshing run through a good fanning mill to blow out trash and put in safe place until seeding time. If there are any traces of stinking, smut, the wheat should be given the formaldehyde treatment before sowing. By this method seed may be obtained from even a poor crop that is likely to be better adapted, cleaner and more desirable in many ways than wheat that can be bought. It is on hand when wanted. The best varieties are grown in Kentucky. They have all been tried. There are none better.

Soil Washing.
By far the greatest cause of loss in soils is washing. The most practical and effective means of controlling erosion is to keep the ground occupied with growing crops. Every field now in cultivated crop should have on it this winter a cover crop of some kind, wheat and rye being the most practical crops. A rye cover crop is worth more than it costs even if it should not be pastured in the spring.

Young Orchard Project.
To encourage the planting and care of young home orchards in this state, the Horticultural Department of the University of Kentucky in cooperation with the County Agent will supervise the planting and care of five years of a number of these orchards. The orchards will be pruned and sprayed each year, cultivated in the fore part of the summer and the cover crop sown in the late summer or early fall which is to remain on the ground during the winter, and turned under the following spring. A cost account record of these orchards will be kept. Anyone desiring to plant one of these demonstration orchards will be asked to purchase the trees and agree to care for them for a period of five years under the direction of the County Agent and the Horticultural Department. The specialists of the Department of Horticulture and the County Agricultural Agent agree to make visits to the demonstration orchards and help the demonstrators in carrying out the project. Any farmer desiring to plant one of these home orchards should get in touch with the County Agent.

"Better Sires-Better Stock" Campaign.
Attention of Farm Bureau members and other farmers is called to the "Better Sires-Better Stock Campaign" now being carried on in this county. The object of this campaign is to get farmers to sign this agreement to breed their livestock to pure bred sires only. Anyone interested in this campaign can get further information from the County Agent.

* THE LITTLE CITIZEN IN THE HOME *

By William A. Blair, LL. D.

Our orators, editors and self-appointed patriots dwell at length upon the wonderful opportunities, privileges and benefits which we enjoy in our great Democracy. Rights and privileges are on every tongue; but far too little is said about duties and responsibilities which must always be commensurate with rights. The old Spartan idea that the child belongs to the State and that the State was entitled to something from him might well have some consideration today.

A father recently told me that he was educating his two boys, one to become a lawyer and the other a preacher. In other words he was training his boys for good citizenship. One boy was to be a good citizen practicing law, the other was to be a good citizen, preaching.

The home is a little democracy, the school a larger one, the world a still greater. The small child should be taught to be a good citizen in the home, later in the school and when he is graduated out into the world he will naturally continue right activity.

"Men are but children of a larger growth." In the home the child should have certain regular tasks to perform and should be taught that he must attend to them conscientiously. The care of pets, plants, flowers and of younger children, the responsibility of performing certain household duties develops strength of character.

Possession teaches generosity, for without possessions of his own, how can the child learn to share and appreciate the difference between "mine and thine?" If his property, his rights, his little treasures are respected he will soon see why he should regard and respect the rights of others.

Possession entails responsibility for the care and use of property. The small boy who leaves his picture book outdoors over night and discovers in the morning that it has been stolen or rain-soaked realizes that the misfortune is his own fault. If he is rough with his toys and breaks them he must learn to be more careful. If he doesn't feed his pet rabbit, it dies, if he fails to care for his garden, the flowers are soon choked with weeds.

In training the child, his opinions should be respected and parents should take time and have patience to show him wherein he is right or wrong. He certainly cannot always have his own way, now nor in the future; therefore he must learn to obey before he is fit to command, and careful, constant training is needed to produce these results. Children should be chums with their parents, and should also have the companionship of other children and learn to "get along" without difficulties or quarrels; adaptability is essential to happiness.

We must begin with our children and teach them personal, home, school community and national responsibility at a very early age, and show by object lessons that every violation of rules or laws, every case of malicious destruction of property, every manifestation of temper, impudence and insolence, all forms of disrespect for persons, places, property, positions, or sacred things being trouble and punishment.

From the training of the home good citizens should be graduated into the schools, from the schools to the colleges, and from the colleges to citizenship and service of our country.

FIFTH ONE TO BITE

Sammy, sitting by the side of a road somewhere in France, was fishing in a shell crater full of water. The captain, passing by looked at him curiously for a few minutes and then asked:

"Not biting very well, heh?"

Sammy turned around grinning and said: "Sure they are; you're the fifth today."—Everybody's Magazine.

ONE GRAIN OF RADIUM BREAKS SALE RECORD

New Yorker Brings $120,000 Worth in Vest Pocket.

Washington, July 27.—One gram of radium valued at $120,000, but sealed in a tiny lead tube for vest pocket carriage, was delivered today by the United States Bureau of Standards to Artur Roeder, a representative of the New York State Institute for Malignant Diseases.

Tested by the bureau, which certified to its exact weight, it is said to represent the largest single sale of the element, and was the largest amount ever brought to Washington for certification. It will be used for cancer research at the State's institute and is part of a total quantity of 2 1-4 grams acquired for the purpose.

The grams of radium, according to Mr. Roeder, constituted the total amount extracted from 125 tons of ore, which was reduced by the Radio Chemical Corporation at Orange, N. J. This purchase by the New York institute, it is said, gives it the largest quantity of radium owned by any state.

This is the scarlet fever season, warns the United States Public Health Service. A clean, sanitary mouth will help to prevent it. Compel the children to brush their teeth regularly and keep the mouth clean.

HE FEELS TWENTY YEARS YOUNGER

"It Was a Lucky Day For Me When I Began Taking Tanlac," Says B. H. Chester.

"It certainly was a lucky day for me when I began taking Tanlac, for it has entirely relieved me of troubles that had followed me for thirty years," said B. H. Chester, 1708 Indiana avenue, Louisville, Ky.

"For all these years I had suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion. My appetite had never been very good, it was seldom, if ever, I could find anything to eat that did not hurt me, and there were some things, such as pork or any kind of vegetables, I could not eat at all. After every meal my food would lie undigested and feel as heavy as a rock in my stomach. I gradually grew worse until when I started taking Tanlac I was in run-down, weakened condition.

"It hardly seems possible that a medicine can so quickly relieve a person of troubles of such long standing like Tanlac has me. Why, while I have only taken two bottles, I have a splendid appetite and can eat just anything I want, pork, vegetables, or anything else, without ever having a sign of indigestion. Not only this, but I have gained several pounds in weight, and am so much stronger I feel almost like a different person. In fact, I am in good health every way, and feel at least twenty years younger. Tanlac is all right, and after what it has done for me, I gladly recommend it whenever I have an opportunity."

Tanlac is sold in Cloverport at Wedding's Drug Store, in Kirk by Mattingly Bros., in Addison by L. D. Addison, in Ammons by Wm. H. Dutschke.—Advertisement.

TOBACCO GROWERS MAY RAISE NO BURLEY IN KENTUCKY IN 1921.

Lexington, July 30.—At a mass meeting of tobacco men, called for this city next Wednesday a complete elimination of the tobacco crop in the burley district of Kentucky will be considered with a view to bettering market conditions for the leading cash crop of Central Kentucky. The proposition for the elimination originated at a meeting of burley growers in Carrollton, July 24, more than 500 tobacco growers being present from seven of the burley counties. The decision was then reached to call a big mass meeting at which all the burley counties should be represented.

The action is believed to be due to the low price for tobacco paid in some of the outside counties for the 1919 crop. Central Kentucky counties where large crops of first-class tobacco were raised, had little complaint to make, but it is said that in the counties farther removed from the central market at Lexington the buyers paid much less for tobacco of the same grades as that sold over the Lexington floors.

The proposition originating at Carrollton includes also the planting of much larger acreages of corn, wheat and other foodstuffs in place of tobacco.

RAPID INCREASE OF RICE EXPORTS

U. S. Exports More Than 300,000 Pounds to Japan Dozen Rice Mills Operated in Cal.

The United States exported more than 300,000 pounds of rice to Japan during the first three months of this year, according to figures of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture. In contrast less than a thousand pounds of this commodity were exported to Japan during the entire year of 1919.

The average rice exports of the United States to all countries during the period 1910-1914 were less than 20,000,000 pounds a year. To-day the exports range from 30,000,000 to 60,000,000 pounds a month.

This enormous export business has been made possible by the development of the rice industry in California based upon experiments made by Department of Agriculture scientists in growing rice in communities where it was said to be impossible to grow this commodity. The first commercial field of rice in California was planted in the Sacramento Valley in 1912. There are now a dozen rice mills in operation in the Golden State, which handled $21,000,000 worth of rice last year.

There is an almost unlimited opportunity for future development of this industry in the United States, say the department's specialists. The rice growers are most enthusiastic over the outlook, and declare that they are going "to teach the American people that rice is one of the finest foods in the world."

WOUNDED VETERANS MAY GET MORE COMPENSATION.

Word has been sent out by the War Risk bureau compensation section, that where disabled men taking vocational training are paying more than $40 a month for board and lodging additional compensation will be granted. There are several partly disabled men working in local stores and business houses who expect to take advantage of the offer, saying that it is costing them considerably more than $40 a month to live.

The readjustment compensation provides that where it costs between $40 and $45 a month to live $10 additional shall be paid. Where the cost of board and lodging is over $45 a month $20 a month more is allowed.
It is stated that the government wants the disabled men to have the best while they are receiving training. One disabled man here taking training in a local store is being forced to pay nearly $50 a month for board and lodging.

SIXTY BANK CLERKS
STRIKE IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, July 30.—The first instance of a strike of bank employes in any city east of the Mississippi river took place here this afternoon, when sixty clerks employed by the First National bank quit work, and walked out.

Officers of the bank said that no integral men were involved, the striking men leaving their positions being employed in the transit and bookkeeping departments.

The clerks gave no reason for walking out. Earlier in the day a committee had asked that three employes who had been discharged be reinstated and this had been refused by the management.

The walkout will not affect the business of the bank, officers say.

The strikers are said to be members of the recently formed union of bank clerks, chartered by the American Federation of Labor.

TEACHERS' LAW BRINGS SHORTAGE TO HICKMAN

Hickman, Ky., July 28.—The new state law in Kentucky, which requires that all persons who teach in cities of fourth class must possess state certificates will disqualify about half the teachers elected in this county. The new law does not recognize county certificates. Both Fulton and Hickman are cities of the fourth class. Teachers have already been elected and if the new law is enforced there will be a shortage.

Tobacco growers of Central Ken-

a result of "rust" and "wildfire," plant diseases spreading in hot weather.
Tobacco growers in this section of the State have not reported the disease affecting their crops yet.

GOV. MORROW WRITES

EDWIN P. MORROW

The crisis in our schools is nothing short of a national menace. Universal education is fundamental in a democracy. In the days of kings, if the sovereign had wisdom, the government was safe; but with us, the people are sovereign, what they think determines every issue of whatever nature.
Unless they be well-trained, and well-instructed, and well-informed; unless they know how to value and to appreciate American institutions and American ideals, democracy will have difficulty in enduring. The defenses of our Commonwealth, the defenses of our nation are not material, but mental and spiritual. Our first lines of defense are our public schools. Our fortifications and our soldiery can repel an invasion of armies from our shores;
our greater menace, an invasion of ideas, can be repelled alone in the school room. The form of reconstruction, of which our people are in most serious need, is a reconstruction of their thoughts and of their ideals.

Kentucky is experiencing a wonderful educational revival. We have come to understand that our schools must be preserved and improved at whatever cost. The opportunities of the child living in the country must be made equal to the opportunities of the child living in the city; all the children of all the people in all the state must be given an equal chance. The teachers, whose unselfish devotion to duty has caused them to remain loyal to their task even at personal sacrifice, must be given adequate compensation. Better paid teachers will mean better prepared teachers; better prepared teachers will mean better taught children; better taught children will mean better citizenship. Our last General Assembly gave us a constructive and comprehensive program of school legislation. But laws do not enforce themselves; they are but lifeless things until public sentiment has breathed into their nostrils the breath of life. In the name of Kentucky's childhood, Kentucky's surest hope; in the name of patriotism, whose shrine is the public school, I urge the people of our Commonwealth to a generous support of,
and a genuine interest in, our public schools. Education is an investment;
Kentucky's greatest tax is ignorance.

Edwin P. Morrow
Governor of Kentucky

ALL EYES ON MASSACHUSETTS

Political bigwigs, dignitaries and neighbors crowded one of the smaller cities of Massachusetts yesterday to honor as a humble citizen, Gov.
Coolidge, and to call him for greater service. The buzz of political activity from Maine to Lower California at the same time paused for men to hear his speech of acceptance, his first words addressed to this vast audience, and now to be interpreted in the light of the Vice Presidency.

Gov. Coolidge's speech was written in the smooth, forceful and lucid style which has made him famous.
As a campaign document, also, it offers numerous quotable phrases. He says: "Either the people will own the Government or the Government will own the people."

The Nation
which forgets its defenders will be itself forgotten. There can be no political independence without economic independence. The destiny, the greatness of America, lies around the hearthstone.

Politically speaking, Gov. Coolidge's contribution to campaign literature adds very little. Of course, a Vice Presidential candidate cannot go beyond the leader of the party in the constructive phrases of his program or in its definiteness. In this respect Gov. Coolidge is of necessity held down to the same vague assurances which characterized the acceptance speech of Senator Harding.

He does discuss the deep funda-mentals of government at length, and in this field he shows himself a close student and a master. He has made the theory of government his hobby.

But he keeps so far away from the details of disputed issues of the moment that most of his speech can be applauded as heartily by Democrats as by Republicans.—Boston Globe.

"Drop in sometime and take pot luck."
"Thanks old man."
"That is to say take your chances."

today when the Chamber of Deputies, avoiding a crisis over the question by its majority for the passage of a bill to revise Article 47 of the Constitution dealing with suffrage.

The bill accepts the principle that any future Parliament may by a two-thirds majority vote suffrage to women without necessitating a new revision of the Constitution.

WANTED TO "GO IT ALONE"

Many Years Ago Missouri Declared Her Ambition to Become an Independent Republic.

Missouri once had intention of setting up as an independent republic all by herself. The Session acts, state of Missouri, 1838-1839, contain a memorial to the congress of the United States relative to the Santa Fe trade. It tells of an expedition of traders to Santa Fe in 1812 from St. Louis, though it is not specifically stated that they went over the Santa Fe trail.

The early Session acts of the Missouri legislature, starting in 1824, contain many interesting resolutions and memorials to congress on all manner of political and historical subjects. Incidentally the Missouri constitution of 1820 starts with the preamble that the citizens of the state agree to form and establish a free and independent republic by the name of the state of Missouri.

Missouri was one of the pivotal states in the history of this country. It was made such in the ancient fight in congress over the slavery question, which took up the admission of free and slave states and considered the balance thereof in congress. Missouri was also a pivotal state in yet another and larger sense—she was the jumping-off place for that wild and unknown country called the Wild West—the land west of the Missouri river. She made the midway point between the frontiersmen of Kentucky and those of the great plains, occupying a generation of history herself as a frontier commonwealth.

A WEDDING JUNE "NIX BISH, NIX"

George Didn't Realize How Much His Bride Was to Him Until Almost Too Late.

George Wharton nearly failed to get married in June. Only presence of mind and a loud voice saved him. In spite of the fact that George's face and form caused no jealous heartburnings among the movie heroes he had won a beautiful young and attractive bride, and their union was to be celebrated with all the pomp, ceremony and trimmings possible from train bearers to white satin ribbons up the aisle of the Cathedral with the Bishop of the Diocese waiting at the altar.

George was frightened. With red face and long swinging coat, he needed only a whip to be taken for an all night cabman. He did not know where to stand or what to do and it was with the utmost difficulty that his sprightly and handsome young brother, acting as best man, maneuvered him to the head of the aisle. The bishop was a stranger to George and very near sighted and when he saw the beautiful bride and the handsome kid brother before him, he joined their hands and began the solemn ceremony which would make them one.

George came out of his daze. As he saw his bride about to be joined in wedlock to another, he swept his brother aside with one wave of a fat arm, seized the bride's white hand in a swearing palm and boomed in a voice that filled every corner of the cathedral: "Nix bish, nix. You got the wrong guy."

Thousands of Americans are on the point of being tied up for life to financial safety. They have won a faithful partner for the future through thrift, saving and investment in Government securities. But they are likely to lose her at the altar if they relax their vigilance for a moment. If they fail to hold tight to sane spending and wise buying, to regular and consistent and systematic saving and to safe and secure investment such as Government Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds, they may be separated from financial safety forever.

Investment in insecure, fraudulent or speculative stocks will accomplish the fool deed, will crowd in between you and your future happiness. If that kind of investment temptation takes you future happiness by the hand and tries to claim her, there is only one thing left to do. Break right into the ceremony and say "Nix, you got the wrong guy."

FILES DIVORCE PETITION

Learn the Art of Life.

Life is so full of beautiful stories that it is inconceivable that there should be any need of fiction or any other form of art. Life itself is an art and requires artists to live it. There are few of these and that may account for written art.

People who can live on the plane of their agreements and avoid the plane of their antipathies make life an art.

There was a glibber friend of ours, poor, honest, witty, a philosopher and withal handsome. He had a wonderfully gifted, beautiful sister and she married a forceful "plute," who was devoted to her and whom she loved as truly as she loved her brother, the shoemaker. The shoemaker was a leader in a radical reform movement; the plute was the leader of the opposition. The shoemaker disdained any sort of financial help from his brother-in-law, but being an old bachelor, lived in the plute's house, sharing a happy family life. There was never a discordant word uttered, because these three tacitly avoided topics on which they did not agree. They knew the art of life.—Chicago News.

COX SLOGAN IS "PEACE, PROGRESS, PROSPERITY."

The Democratic Campaign slogan for 1920 is "Peace, Progress, Prosperity," taking the place of that which the Democrats used in 1916: "He kept us out of war."

Two million posters bearing the new slogan will be used in the campaign.

ALL THATS NEEDED IS A GOOD 5c CIGAR.

The Globe man with his daily stories related this one: "For almost eight years Vice President Marshall has sat in a high place in Washington listening to ninety-six Senators say, one after another, 'Mr. President, I wish to call your attention—' when as a matter of fact they were endeavoring to attract or distract the attention of several million sovereign voters. The Vice President had his own opinion as to the value of Senate oratory.

"Senator King of Utah, one of his own partisans and an inveterate orator, consumed two hours one session recently expatiating upon 'What the Country Needs.' Every third sentence began:

"What the country needs, Mr. President," with the Senator's finger leveled threateningly at the Vice President, as if daring him to refuse to be convinced.

"Mr. Marshall politely held his seat until the Utah orator finished and then started for the Marble Lobby for a change of scene.

"What this country needs," he confided to a reporter in the lobby, 'is a good five-cent cigar.'"

It is proposed not only to make the new building of national significance, on the order of Grant's tomb on the Hudson, but also to establish a great center for general patriotic activities, with meeting rooms for patriotic organizations and an auditorium for large public assemblages.

LINCOLN'S STATUE UNVEILED IN CITY OF LONDON

Elihu Root presents Statue To British As Gift From America.

The statue of Abraham Lincoln stands in Canning Square in the city of London as a gift from the American people. The statue was formally presented to the British on July 28, by Elihu Root, former American secretary of State, and later the statue was unveiled. Premier Lord George delivered the speech of acceptance.

In his address, Mr. Root, said in part in memory of America's great president:

"We may disregard all life's prejudices and quarrels—that result from casual friction and pinpricks and from outside misrepresentation and detraction and rest upon Lincoln's unerring judgement of his countrymen and his race. We may be assured from him that whenever trials come, whenever there is need for assurance of the inherent power, truth and triumph of justice, humanity and freedom—then, the peace and friendship between Great Britain and America will prove to be, as Lincoln desired to make them perpetual."
